Welcome to Camden People's Theatre! CPT is a central London space dedicated year-round to supporting early-career artists making unconventional theatre - particularly those whose work explores issues that matter to people now.

We like to work with companies and artists who make work collaboratively, and tend not to programme work which originates from a script. We're a small theatre with big ideas, and your ideas are what matter to us most about your proposal.

Throughout the festival, we programme two performances a night, one usually around 7.15pm and another at 9pm. For more information about the space we offer, head to <https://www.cptheatre.co.uk/get-involved/hire-us>
