The Monkey House is a new purpose built building excellently located on Seven Sisters Road, a short walk from Finsbury Park tube station and just 10 minutes by tube to central London. The building is home to Fourth Monkey Training Company and their professional touring company, The Fourth Monkey Ensemble.

A hub of creativity and artistic development, The Monkey House is excited to be opening it's doors to companies looking to bring a show to the Camden Fringe Festival 2019. As a company, Fourth Monkey work with and support emerging companies looking to create bold and exciting work.

The Monkey House is formed of six purpose built studios (which are all available to hire as rehearsal space) including our 70-seater black box studio theatre space, The Emrys Johns Studio. Companies also have access to changing rooms, excellent technical provisions and a bar area.

We are open to a broad programme but have a specific interest in new writing, contemporary revivals, devised work and physical theatre. All but one studio (including the theatre space) have a fully sprung dance floor so naturally lend themselves to physical work.

The Emrys Johns Studio:

- 70 seat capacity in thrust configuration
- Large and versatile space
- 8m x 3.5m playing space
- Two entrances and exits
- 3m total head height

Slots will be offered on a hire and 30% box office split basis, with rates including technical support and some marketing support. As well as the theatre space hire, The Monkey House can also provide rehearsal space hire, props and/or set hire, as well as costume hire.

Slots are available from 29th July – 11th August as follows:

- 6pm slots, Wednesday-Saturday (4 performances) for a single week @ £350
- 7.30pm slots, Wednesday-Saturday (4 performances) for a single week @ £400
- 9pm, Wednesday-Saturday (4 performances) for a single week @ £350
