The best new theatre takes centre stage in the heart of Covent Garden.

On the very edge of the Borough of Camden in the heart of Covent Garden, just off Cambridge Circus, the Tristan Bates Theatre is a perfectly located 70-seat studio theatre with a reputation for showcasing the best new writing, new productions, and emerging companies. A black box studio, the TBT offers three dressing rooms, full run-around and good technical provisions, as well as its own box office, front of house and bar.

Many companies who've tried out work at the TBT for short runs, one-off performances or scratch nights have returned to work on larger projects, and we pride ourselves in supporting all visiting artists and encouraging their pursuit of artistic excellence. In addition to a strong public and PR profile, the theatre's location and parent organisation the Actors Centre mean that it has close connections with the wider theatre industry.

2018 will be the TBT's sixth year in the Camden Fringe. We are open to a broad programme including new plays, contemporary revivals, devised work and physical theatre, as well as sketch and stand-up comedy.

Slots will be offered on a week hire basis, with rates including some marketing and production support as well as returning 100% of net box office. These are available as follows:

- Afternoon (6.15pm) Tue-Sat slots (5 performances) for a single week
- Early (7.45pm) Mon-Sat (6 performances) for a single week
- Late (9.15pm) Mon-Sat (6 performances) for a single week

Each show will perform in the theatre in its black box state with an L shaped seating configuration.

Set should be kept to a minimum to enable quick turnaround time between shows.

Companies will be provided with a technician for the get in and get out but will need to find their own Operators/Stage Managers.

Shows must have a maximum running time of 60 minutes.

Please only get in touch if:
